Diana Ross Lady Sings the Blues

Lady Sings the Blues is a 1972 American biographical drama film about jazz singer Billie Holiday, loosely based on her 1956 autobiography which, in turn, took its title from one of Holiday's most popular songs. Diana Ross portrayed Holiday, alongside a cast including Billy Dee Williams, Richard Pryor, James T. Callahan, and Scatman Crothers. It was nominated for five Academy Awards: Best Actress in a Leading Role, Best Art Direction-Set Decoration, Best Costume Design, Best Music-Original Song Score and Adaption, and Best Writing-Story and Screenplay Based on Factual Materials
